Confessions in Dynamite Case

BELIEF THAT SEVERAL WILL BE FORTHCOMING.

WILL TELL ALL THEY KNOW

District Attorney Miller indicates That Some of the Indicted Ones Are Now Ready to Unburden Themselves.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 16.—Intimations are said to have been received by the government today that some of the defendants in the dynamite conspiracy cases are preparing to tell all they know. Asked if any negotiations had been opened with him concerning the defendants, U. S. District Attorney Charles W. Miller said, "I wouldn't be surprised if it had happened."

Conference of Counsel.
W. N. Harding, counsel for Ryan and the international officers of the iron workers, talked for a long time with Mr. Miller today, but it was not disclosed what was considered. Between now and the defendants' arraignment before Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson here on March 12, the government will proceed with preparation for the trials, which probably will be early in May.

Some Still Unable to Procure Bonds.
Some of the defendants, reported in various cities to be unable to procure bonds, may be brought here within a week. It is said the government will question as many as possible. The federal grand jury which returned the indictments has not been informed and it is said if any information warrants it, the jurors will be reconvened.

Ryan Discusses Letters.
Concerning the letters quoted in the indictment, Mr. Ryan said today: "It is unfair for the government to draw conclusions that these letters were written to promote crime. If any person reads all of them he will see they refer only to legitimate means of inducing contractors to utilize their work."

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 16.—Malcolm McLaren, a detective employed by the agency which caused the arrests of the two McNamaras, returned today from a visit to San Quentin prison, where the brothers are confined. IMPRESSIVE SERVICES FOR MAINE'S SAILORS.
United States and Cuba Will Both Pay Tribute.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Impressive funeral services for the remains of sailors recovered from the wreck of the battleship Maine and services over the bulk of the battleship itself have been arranged by the United States and Cuba.

Shortly after March 4th it is expected the twisted mass, which has lain 14 years in Havana harbor mud, will be towed out into the Gulf of Mexico and sunk. The armored cruiser North Carolina and the scout cruiser Birmingham, with the recovered skeletons aboard, will convey the Maine to her final resting place.

As the two cruisers take the wreck out into the Gulf, the batteries of the North Carolina will roar out a salute of 21 guns. The scout cruiser Birmingham will fire cannon and every thirty minutes thereafter until sunset.

A guard of honor of Cuban soldiers and sailors will stand over the remains while the ceremonies on shore are in progress.

SAYS DRESSES COST HER $6,000 A YEAR
Mrs. Albert G. Wheeler Says It Is Impossible to Live on That Sum.

New York, Feb. 16.—Testifying in a suit for separation on the ground of abandonment, Mrs. Albert G. Wheeler, Jr., formerly Claudia Carls, testified today that it was impossible for her to live on the $6,000 her husband had allowed her since he left her.

Wheeler, who was a member of the Wall Street firm of J. B. Russell & Co., which was recently dissolved, did not oppose the suit, but contended that he was unable to pay more than $100 a month alimony. Her attorney said the abandonment was because Mrs. Wheeler was "of too artistic a temperament."

Mrs. Wheeler said her husband had an income of $140,000 a year when he left her, that he once borrowed $2,000,000 from E. J. Harriman, and that he raised perhaps $22,000,000 for the Chicago tunnel. She testified about apartments which they had in New York, where it cost $25,000 "just to keep the furnishings in order and to run the automobiles," and about leg trips in Wheeler's private car which cost $6,000 a week. Her dresses alone, she said, cost her $6,000 a year, in Norwich today.

FIVE MURDERERS DIE ON GALLOWES
Incident Has Increased Sentiment Against Death Penalty.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—More men were hanged in Chicago today than sufferings here, may be brought here within a week. It is said the government will question as many as possible. The federal grand jury which returned the indictments has not been informed and it is said if any information warrants it, the jurors will be reconvened.

Two murders sent five men to the gallows while four were hanged for the Haymarket bomb throwing. Frank Shibusawa, Ewald Shibusawa, his brother, Philip Sommerling and Thomas Schults, slayers of Fred W. Guelow, Jr., a truck farmer whom they killed in cold blood after robbing him, died while their spiritual adviser was seeking to convince a judge that the four were insane.

The execution of the men, who were hanged in pairs, cut short the plan. The hanging of Thomas Jennings, a negro, who killed Clarence Hillier while attempting to rob the Hillier home, took place after Judge Landis in the United States district court had denied a petition for his release on a writ of habeas corpus. This writ set forth that Jennings was convicted on forged print evidence which he was compelled to give the police in violation of his rights.

Judge Landis did not rule on the competency of the evidence, holding that the point if taken to the federal courts at all, should have been carried directly to the United States supreme court. He also declined to consider an affidavit by a photographer that he was asked by the police to retouch photographs of Jennings' finger prints and sharply criticized the man who made the affidavit for delaying to make his statement until the trials and appeals were over.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Ewald Shibusawa, one of the men who was hanged today for the murder of Fred Guelow, wrote the law and was a hero to carry out the law. But it seems to me that imprisonment for life would be a greater deterrent to crime.

Mayor Harrison also declared: "Some times I think it would be better to do away with capital punishment and substitute life imprisonment. But the law should make it impossible to escape the prison penalty except on evidence."

Served Liquor At His Office

DR. ATWOOD MAKES ALLEGATION AGAINST AVERILL.

USED IT TO TREAT FRIENDS

Declares That Cattle Commissioner Was Surrounded by "Political Parasites."—Continuation of Hearing.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 16.—The hearing upon charges against Commissioner H. O. Averill preferred by Dr. F. G. Atwood will be taken up again next week Friday by Governor Baldwin, as the introduction of evidence by Dr. Atwood in support of his charges was not completed when adjournment was taken this afternoon. There remains the cross examination of the doctor by Judge Henney for Commissioner Averill, and as the direct testimony of the complainant covers a considerable range, and a variety of matters under the many paragraphs in the complaint were brought out it is expected this cross questioning will be of some length.

Atwood Differs With Other Veterinarians.
For the time being the cross examination was suspended until the stenographer has made a transcript of what Dr. Atwood said. The evidence he gave tended to show that his opinions on various diseases to which horses are subject differ somewhat from those held by other veterinarians.

Built Up Political Machine.
Under the paragraph which alleged that Commissioner Averill did not give his whole time to the affairs of the office Dr. Atwood claimed that the commissioner put in considerable of his time attending to duties in his home town, in which he is judge of probate. The complainant was extremely sarcastic and spoke with much emphasis on his allegations that the commissioner built up a "political machine" by appointing those who had been "loyal to him in the past and are loyal now and will be loyal in the future," words which are embraced in the complaint, in making appointments as local agents to investigate cases of bovine tuberculosis.

Kept Liquor in Private Office.
Dr. Atwood once termed some of these appointees as "political parasites." One of the statements made by Dr. Atwood during his attack upon the commissioner's administration of the department was that he had kept liquor in his private office in the capitol building, to supply his friends with "liquor diet."

Photographs Introduced.
Dr. Atwood in his direct testimony told of conditions as related to glanders among horses in New Haven, as the law and was a hero to carry out the law. But it seems to me that imprisonment for life would be a greater deterrent to crime.

Mayor Harrison also declared: "Some times I think it would be better to do away with capital punishment and substitute life imprisonment. But the law should make it impossible to escape the prison penalty except on evidence."

Norwich Men Representing Finance, the Law, Commerce Manufacturing, and Other Interests.

EDWARD J. HUNT, Manager Norwich Branch Southern New England Telephone Co.

MRS. KIMMEL PUT TO A SEVERE TEST.

Asked if She Was Actuated by Mother Love or Money Love.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 16.—"Mother love or money love?" This harsh question was put by counsel for the defense to Mrs. Estelle Kimmel shortly before court adjourned today when he reviewed in cross examination her statement that she had recovered $5,000 on the life of George A. Kimmel, Kimmel disappeared from Arkansas City, Kas., in 1888.

"I want my son back as he may be," responded the mother, earnestly, "with all the infirmities and deformities that may accrue with years, but I don't want a convict who does not resemble my son in a single feature."

"Was it mother love or money love?" said the lawyer sternly, "that kept you from going to this man for three years?"

"I don't believe him to be my son," she replied. For the defense trapped Mrs. Kimmel into a statement that she did not recognize a picture of her son, George A. Kimmel.

He showed her a newspaper picture, a reproduction of a photograph, and asked her if she recognized it as her son's picture. She put on her spectacles, looked at the picture, and said, "I should say most emphatically not."

Counsel then pointed out that the picture was taken from the plaintiff's exhibits and was a half tone copy of an authenticated photograph of Kimmel.

WOMAN'S MAIN WORK ALWAYS IN THE HOME
Governor Baldwin's View in Address to New Haven Mothers.

New Haven, Feb. 16.—In speaking before the New Haven Mothers' club tonight, Gov. Simon E. Baldwin said that although woman has a larger field open to her now than fifty or a hundred years ago, and can go into the business arena and contend with man on equal terms, her main life and work is and must always be in the home.

Advertisements get the public curious by running the space blank for a day or two, and then revealing in good shape the purpose of the investment. Others have a way of attracting attention by constant renewals and cleverly written announcements. The regularly running ad. in a paper is too much like a door-plate, or a mile-post. Things which do not change soon lose their power to impress the reader. A live business man can usually write a live advertisement, but a three-dollar-a-week clerk cannot. The art of advertising consists in saying what you mean and meaning what you say. Reliability gives prestige to any announcement; and originality maintains constant attention. In addressing the public say things your way and business will be likely to find that way.

Great Demand For Revolvers

WILD WEST CONDITIONS PREVAILING IN NEW YORK.

NOBODY SAFE WITH MONEY

Highway Robberies Almost an Hourly Occurrence—Many Applications to Police for Permits to Carry Weapons.

New York, Feb. 16.—The series of highway robberies lately in crowded New York streets, of which yesterday's plundering of $25,000 in cash from two bank messengers in a taxicab was the most sensational in years, was followed today and tonight by other holdups almost as amazing. In the latest of these, reported tonight, George Horth, a dealer in diamonds with office in the maze of Fifth Avenue district, was relieved of a wallet containing $10,000 worth of gems by two men who jumped from a taxicab at the corner of Thirty-fifth street and Fifth avenue.

Beat Victim Over Head.
Scores of vehicles were passing up and down the brilliantly lighted avenue at the time and within a block of the scene stood the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Horth was beaten over the head by one of the men while the other snatched the wallet from his inside coat pocket. The men then leaped back into the taxicab and it disappeared in the maze of Fifth Avenue traffic. Horth, with his head showing severe contusions, reported his loss at the West Thirtieth street police station.

Messenger Robbed of $340.
The evening robbery occurred in the Bronx, but likewise in broad daylight. William Dougherty, messenger for a business firm, was attacked by a youth of 18, it is said, and robbed of $340, his firm's payroll, which he was bringing from a branch of the Corn Exchange bank. The robbery took place in a vacant lot and Dougherty's assailant escaped.

Armed Guards with Messengers.
No clues had been obtained today to the perpetrators of yesterday's taxicab robbery which, because it took place in the heart of the financial district, caused financial institutions to send armed guards to their messengers, many of whom are accustomed to carry small fortunes on their persons.

Police Make an Arrest.
The police arrested Charles Rossi for the robbery of a downtown street a few days ago of a payroll of $1,000 from Irving Bechtelmann. This crime the police connect with the taxicab robbery, expressing the belief that Rossi, who was arrested, was the man who was the assailant.

Applications to Go Armed.
Scores of business men and bankers made application at police headquarters today for permits to carry revolvers, expressing the feeling that they were not safe on the streets with valuables in their keeping. Directly attributed to the public uneasiness over the safety of life and property which the remarkable boldness of the robberies has created, was a run today on the private bank of Adolph Mendel on the East Side.

Needless Run on Bank.
The recent installation in the bank of a burglar alarm, which followed, oddly, today, by reports that the bank had been robbed and that depositors had lost everything. The result was that the bank was besieged by scores of depositors who came excitedly to draw out their money.

An Unusual Sight.
The appearance in the Wall street district today of messengers accompanied by guards was an unusual sight, for in recent years "crooks" have seldom attempted to rob messengers beyond the imaginary "dead line" fixed by the police at Fulton street. Arrest on sight was the portion of any criminal known to the police if seen below that street.

BRANDT'S CASE GOES OVER TO NEXT WEEK.
Decision of Justice Gerard May Obviate Necessity of Hearing.

New York, Feb. 16.—After hearing testimony today to the effect that letters and photographs taken from Pauline Brandt at the time of her arrest at Belmont, N. Y., had been burned, the grand jury adjourned its investigation of Brandt's case until Monday.

The other phases of the case, the pending decision of Supreme Court Justice Gerard on habeas corpus proceedings and the beginning of the hearing on Brandt's application for clemency also went over until next week.

Richard L. Hand, the attorney appointed by the governor to conduct the hearing, will open here Tuesday morning. It may be forestalled by Justice Gerard's decision, however, for if this should be in Brandt's favor it would return the prisoner to the legal position of one never having been tried for the crime for which he has served five years, in which case no pardon would be necessary. Justice Gerard intimated today that his decision would be given on Monday or Tuesday at the latest.

CONDUCTOR CRUSHED BETWEEN TROLLEYS.
Arthur Marsh of Waterbury Dies of Injuries a Few Hours Later.

Waterbury, Conn., Feb. 16.—Arthur Marsh, aged 35 years, a conductor for the Connecticut company, died at the Waterbury hospital at 11:30 o'clock tonight following terrible injuries which he received when he was caught between his own car and another following close behind at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon at West Main and Meadow streets. Marsh was standing at the rear end of his car raising the ladder preparatory to changing ends when another car following close got beyond the control of the motorman, owing to slippery rails, and caught Marsh between the two trolleys. Both of his legs were crushed and broken at the knee and he suffered from profound shock.

Americans Fleeing from Mexico.
Laredo, Texas, Feb. 16.—Refugees from Mexico, principally American women and children, continued today to pass through here. They came from all parts of the republic, claiming in some cases that their Mexican friends advised them to leave. A few of these refugees have told narratives of alleged mistreatment, but these stories were hearsay.
